Directory Methodology

The "AIN Completions Directory" is intended to provide readers with a comprehensive listing of active centers and their capabilities based on work done during the previous year. Information and numbers are provided by the centers in response to an annual survey e-mailing/faxing. The directory can also be accessed through the AIN Web site, www.ainonline.com.

A completion and/or refurbishment company is one that installs interiors in business aircraft, a category that includes original equipment manufacturers as well as independents. The company may or may not outsource for the interior components it installs.

A "green" completion is an interior completion involving a new aircraft. A "full" completion describes a refurbishment that essentially calls for stripping the interior and installing all-new cabin components. A "partial" completion is anything less than a "full" completion.

The "AIN Suppliers & Vendors Directory" lists companies whose products or services provide support to the completion and refurbishment industry.

The inclusion of completion and refurbishment centers and their suppliers and vendors in these directories does not constitute an endorsement by AIN of these companies, their services or their products.

If your company was not listed here and you believe it should be included in one or both of the directories, please e-mail AIN's Jane Campbell at jcampbell@ainonline.com. □
